WITHOUT HEAT — A youngster strolls up a suburban street in Schenectady, N. Y., following a two-day snow and sleet storm that toppled power lines and cut electricity to more than 50,000 homes. Many of the homes are still without heat and electricity. Gov. Rockefeller has scheduled a survey of the damage.

Tells of Bank Charter Payoff in Baker Case

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's investigators of Bobby Baker were told today that a group of Californians was granted a national bank charter very shortly after it retained a Washington lobbyist and friend of Baker's for $5,000.

Soon after completion of that phase of its inquiry, the Senate Rules Committee planned a private session for a probable decision on how much further to carry its sometimes stormy study of Baker's affairs.

Maurice Hughett, now a Falls Church, Va., businessman, identified the lobbyist as Wayne Bromley, a former Senate employee. He said that at Bromley's request, he delivered the $5,000 check to Baker.

Hughett told the committee he learned later that Baker, resigned secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, had cashed the check for Bromley in the Senate disbursing office.

Asked if he knew the reason, Hughett said Bromley told him he was buying a house at the time and also owed some money and was "taking care of his obligations."

Bromley, now a coal industry lobbyist who used to work under Baker in the Senate, was sitting in the big Senate caucus room waiting to be called for questioning.

Hughett testified that he recommended to Sherman Leland, his nephew and one of the organizers of the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael, Calif., that Bromley be retained for help in getting a charter from the comptroller of the currency.

He said Leland told him in the summer of 1962 that the organizers of the bank were very concerned because, three months after applying for a national charter, they hadn't made much progress.

Hughett said he told Leland it would be "a good idea to retain someone in Washington to pursue" the application and suggested the employment of Bromley. He added that he suggested that $5,000 would be reasonable fee.

Lennox P. McLendon, the committee's special counsel, asked Hughett if he had any conversation with Bromley "as to what Baker did to help with the charter."

"No," Hughett replied. Later, in answer to other questions, Hughett said he "assumed Bromley would contact Baker on the matter, but we didn't discuss it."

"Did you also assume that Baker could be of assistance?" asked Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

"I thought that was entirely possible," replied Hughett. McLendon said the $5,000 check, dated March 4, 1963, was endorsed by both Bromley and Baker and showed it was cashed in the Senate disbursing office. Hughett's testimony was given. (Continued on Page Two)

Life Term Cut by Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The life prison term of William Van Landingham was reduced to 50 years Monday by Governor Orval E. Faubus.

Landingham was convicted of first-degree murder and larceny in Washington County Circuit Court in 1946.

McNab Man Charged in Liquor Raid

Texarkana—Orville Wayne was arraigned Monday before U. S. Commissioner Thelma Winham on federal liquor law charge. He waived hearing and was held for U. S. District Court action under $500 bond.

Straw is charged with possessing an unregistered still making mash and possessing untaxed whiskey. He was arrested in connection with a raid last Saturday.

The still was located in a barn a mile east of McNab in Hempstead County. It was a 150-gallon copper pot rig, 14 barrels of mash and three gallons of moonshine liquor were seized.

Making the raid were A. W. Keith, agent of the ABC, a federal liquor agent and Constable Jim Moore of Fulton.

The Christmas Office Party Is in About the Same Plight as the Whooping Crane

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane. It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party. "What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. The memories of the survivors of office Christmas parties are as undependable as those of the veterans of any other war, and a tendency to glory up the picture develops as the years pass.

Actually, in the old days — say a quarter of a century ago — many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not one member of the staff would up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration — at least as it is fondly recalled by many — was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalp raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

Some, or all, of the following events might happen: Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler. At least 15 employees went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him — and the boss made a mental note to start off the New Year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

In attempts to break up one fist fight, four more would start. Six middle-aged married men suffered ankle sprains chasing the girls from the stenographic pool from desktop to desktop.

Wilson and LBJ Still Discussing Nuclear Arms

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson continue their talks today with two main subjects expected on the agenda: the nuclear future of the Atlantic Alliance and the situation in Southeast Asia.

Wilson began to spell out his ideas on how to organize a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at a mid-afternoon session with Johnson Monday, their second of the day. The prime minister will conclude his presentation today and then, presumably, Johnson will present a defense of the multilateral force as conceived by the United States.

Wilson is cool to the idea. Instead, the Labor government is understood to propose the formation of a new NATO nuclear command, to include Britain's nuclear bombers and submarines and all or most of the nuclear tactical weapons already in Europe.

The U. S. — suggested nuclear fleet, drastically reduced from the proposed 25 ships with 200 Polaris missiles, also would be part of the new command.

The two leaders will seek no decisions on this delicate and complex issue, observers on both sides cautioned Monday night. The word that no blueprint will emerge from the two-day conference was stressed repeatedly, with American and British officials using the same word.

What should be achieved in the talks is a mutual understanding on how to shape the West's nuclear defense, before the issue is taken up with the Allies in NATO, the officials said.

The Johnson-Wilson talks are going far beyond the NATO problem, it was emphasized after the first day. The aim is to formulate a joint philosophy on the role in the world of the only (Continued on Page Two)

Film Shows Cancer Facts for Everyone

A special program on "CANCER FACTS FOR MEN AND WOMEN" will be presented Thursday night, December 10, in the Junior High School Auditorium at 7:30. This program is sponsored by the Hempstead County Home Demonstration Council and The Arkansas Cancer Society.

The slogan for this project is "A Nagging Wife May Save Your Life," and women are urged not only to attend themselves but also to bring their husbands with them. Many women have learned the importance of knowing the Seven Danger Signals of Cancer and of acting promptly when one is discovered. Unfortunately, this is not always true of their husbands.

The problem of cancer is one that is vital to all of us. Cancer strikes one in every four persons (two out of three families) and is, at the present time, killing more men than women.

Lung cancer alone kills more men each year than automobile accidents. Many of those who die could be saved with early discovery and treatment. The purpose of this program is to educate the people concerning the seven Danger Signals of Cancer and the importance of regular health check-ups. The program consists mainly of interesting films, and there will also be a "question and answer period."

Dr. Lynn Harris, Dr. Forney Holt, and Dr. James Spring will be available to answer the questions you might have.

Mrs. James Robertson, Hempstead County Chairman for the American Cancer Society, urges, "Don't say you are too busy and don't have time to come. Your presence at this program may someday save your life or that of a loved one. We particularly ask the men to come with their wives. Women, let your husband know how vitally important his life is, not only to his farm or business, but, above all to his family. Bring him with you. You may help him save that life."

The program will be directed by Miss Dolores McBride Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Ernest Ridgill, President of the Home Demonstration Council, and Mrs. Robertson.

Americans Use 46 Million Yule Trees

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 46 million Christmas trees will add glitter to the American holiday season this year, the Agriculture Department predicts.

Most of the trees will come from domestic forests and plantations, but about 850,000 will be cut in national forests. The department said a six-foot tree may take as much as a quart of water daily to keep it fresh and fire-resistant after it is first brought indoors.

ALC Given the Hard Facts—Cut Budgets to Fit

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Comptroller L. A. Mashburn said the Legislative Council the hard facts today about the task facing the council in its efforts to cut state budgets to fit anticipated revenues.

Mashburn said that the council so far has approved general revenue budgets totaling $11,953,058 and it has effected a saving of $69,214.

It must cut $5,814,786 out of the remaining $145,948,942 in general revenue budgets.

The council responded to this news by eliminating $300,000 in general revenues from the Forestry Commission's $2,341,000 budget.

The council cut $104,310 from the budgets of four agencies Monday but it earlier had in- (Continued on Page Two)

Execution Stay Granted by Holt

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The scheduled Friday execution of Walter Lonnie Brown, 19, a Negro of Little Rock was postponed Monday by state Supreme Court Justice Frank Holt.

Holt issued a stay pending a review of the conviction. Brown was sentenced to the electric chair for the murder of Mrs. Hester Wares, 59, a clerk at the Trio Liquor Store at Pine Bluff.

Brown and four other Negroes were convicted of robbing the store, and Brown was convicted of the murder, Mrs. Wares died the day after the July 15 robbery.

Boy 10, Goes on a Wild Truck Ride

By ROBERT COOKE

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (AP) — Whoever said experience is the best teacher had it all wrong — at least in young Stephen Dugman's case.

Stephen, 10, took his first driving lesson — solo — Monday. He drove to his aunt's home in Pacoima, Calif., 62 miles away, police said.

That, by itself, is a considerable accomplishment, as any veteran truck driver would admit. Stephen, however, took the joy ride during the peak traffic rush hour, navigating a long distance on the San Diego Freeway.

The freeway speed limit is 65 miles an hour. Stephen's speed was not determined.

Police learned of the trip from a neighbor, who reported at 8:15 a.m. he had seen the boy driving around the neighborhood.

Police contacted his mother, Mrs. Joseph Dugman, who said that she didn't know what had gotten into the boy.

Two hours later, officers said, Stephen showed up at his aunt's home. Bernice Watts, after she recovered from the shock, called Westminster, then had her 17-year-old son drive Stephen home — to a severe greeting.

Stephen, who stands only 4 feet 9 inches, sits considerably less, and can barely peep out of the windshield of his parents' 1964 compact car, officers said.

Police said apparently no one paid any attention to the boy as he drove through the heavy traffic, but Southern California traffic is like that — everyone is intent on one thing, getting there, and fast.

Investigators said Stephen's mother was told to bring him to the station, probably for a lecture. They said Stephen had probably already encountered one lecture — one he's still smarting over.

Indonesia Mob Ruins the U.S. Cultural Center

By ANTOINE YARED

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A mob protesting America's policies toward the Congo and Malaysia stormed the U.S. Information Service library in the East Java capital of Surabaya Monday night, burning books, furniture, a mobile unit and a car.

It was the second U.S. library attacked by Indonesian demonstrators in four days. A mob stoned and sacked the American cultural center in Jakarta and its library last Friday, destroying about a fourth of the library's 15,000 books.

The Communist-led demonstrators are protesting America's participation with Belgium in the rescue of white hostages from Congolese rebels and U.S. support of Malaysia, which Indonesian President Sukarno has threatened to crush.

USIS Director Paul Neilson told a news conference a mob of about 1,000 banner-waving demonstrators smashed windows to enter the Surabaya library, which had been closed and locked in anticipation of trouble.

The mob hauled down the American flag and raised the Indonesian flag, wrecked the interior of the library, then threw furniture and books outside and built a bonfire with them.

The director of the library, James McHale, informed Neilson about a fourth of the library's 15,000 books were destroyed.

en the committee in its re-opened investigation of the far-ranging outside business of Baker before he resigned under fire in October of last year from his $19,600-a-year Senate post.

The bank contends Bromley was paid only a "perfectly normal" fee as an attorney for services performed in 1962-63. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has pictured it as a payment for lobbying activities.

Williams told the Senate in a speech last July 27 that the $5,000 check from the bank was cashed by Baker at the Senate disbursing office after Bromley endorsed it but that he did not know what was done with the money. Baker at the time was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority. He resigned later under fire.

Republican and Democratic members told reporters the committee probably would meet in a closed session later in the day or Wednesday to consider how far to press its stormy, often politically flavored investigation of Baker's outside business dealings.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., the lone GOP member of the Rules Committee still in Washington, said he would demand a far more searching inquiry than has been made up to now.

Democratic members indicated privately they believe the time is about at hand to consider winding up this new phase of the inquiry by turning over its evidence to the Justice Department and some of it perhaps to other Senate investigating groups.

Cooper said he would oppose a windup and seek a recess until after Jan. 1. He said this will provide time for committee investigators to check new evidence obtained from insurance man Don B. Reynolds and from the Justice Department.

Cooper said he also wants more details concerning Reynolds' disputed testimony naming himself as the "bag man" for Baker and builder Matthew H. McCloskey in a purported $25,000 payoff in the 1960 Democratic presidential campaign fund.

McCloskey, former chile fund raiser for the Democratic National Committee and a former ambassador to Ireland, hotly denied Reynolds' testimony. Baker invoked the Fifth Amendment, refusing to answer practically all the committee's questions. He explained that he is under investigation by a federal grand jury, the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service.

"I have tried to follow her advice."

Anti-Poverty Cash Totals $824,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas will get about $824,000 in federal anti-poverty act funds for university and college students who need part-time work to stay in school, the state Planning Commission said Monday.

J. D. Hill, a commission assistant, discussed this portion of the act and others before the staff of the state Education Department.

He said that although the Planning Commission offers technical assistance to communities seeking to qualify for anti-poverty programs, the agency itself isn't involved in the projects. He said, however, that the agency would like communities which apply to take part in the projects to notify the state agency of their application.

On the college program, Hill said the colleges and universities are to screen the applications. The need of each student is to be measured within the general guidelines developed by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Says Venus Surrounded by Ice Clouds

BALTIMORE (AP) — The clouds surrounding the planet Venus are composed of water in the form of ice particles, a team of Johns Hopkins University astrophysicists said today.

The scientists said the finding of water vapor on Venus raises the possibility of oxygen in its atmosphere. They based their reasoning on calculations that all of Earth's oxygen could be accounted for by the releasing of oxygen from water vapor in the upper atmosphere.

The oxygen is freed by the action of sunlight.

The latest findings on Venus, earth's twin sister in size, density and general composition, were obtained from an unmanned balloon flight last Oct. 27.

The possibility of a source of oxygen and a previous discovery that its atmosphere contains carbon dioxide raises the possibility that life in some form might exist on the planet.

The Johns Hopkins team, headed by Dr. John Strong, concluded the latest data confirmed earlier measurements by Dr. Strong showing the surface temperature to be close to minus 40 degrees Fahrenheit, with only a few degrees difference between light and dark sides of Venus.

Radio-telescopes on Earth and on the Mariner 2 space probe, which passed within 21,000 miles of Venus in December 1962, indicated the surface temperature was 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Interpretation of radio-telescope waves as an indication of temperature has neither been proven or universally accepted," said Dr. Strong, director of the Johns Hopkins Astrophysics Laboratory.

The Johns Hopkins scientists suggest that the previous findings may only indicate a large amount of lightning-like electrical activity in the turbulent atmosphere of Venus.

Marianna Gets Survey Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration announced approval Monday of a $5,352 advance to Marianna, Ark., to begin survey and planning for the town's urban renewal project.

We Have Inside outhouses. It took me a little while to get the last one. I only caught a glimpse of it as the bus rolled along.

Tobin's reactions were reported by John Watson, travel promotion director of the U.S. Travel Service, in an address to the Tourist & Convention Council of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce.

To encourage American travel by foreigners, the travel service will spend $685,000 in an advertising campaign next year.

38 Dead in Sudan Riots, 500 Injured

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Armored cars and truckloads of police today patrolled the streets of Khartoum, where the toll of two days of rioting has climbed to 38 dead and more than 500 injured.

While a precarious peace settled in the heart of the Sudanese capital, new outbreaks of violence swept suburban areas throughout the night where vengeance-seeking Arabs pursued African blacks blamed for starting bloody racial rioting Sunday.

Anti-Western feeling mounted. Arab masses and Arab press editorials accused "Western agents and missionaries" of inciting the Africans to riot.

It was the worst riot in the recent history of this parched, dusty capital ruling over 10 million Arabs and four million Negroes, bitterly divided.

The ethnic and racial division threatens to split the Sudan in two and set dangerous precedents for a number of artificially put-together African states.

Robbers Hold Young Girl as Hostage

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 17-year-old girl was held hostage for three hours at her home here Monday night as two men armed with a sawed-off shotgun robbed a store at an undetermined amount of money.

Her younger sister, also was held briefly.

Officials said the amount might be several thousand dollars.

The men, one with a stocking over his face, went to the home of Fred K. Shelton, manager of a supermarket, and held his daughter, Janice, hostage from about 4 p.m. until about 7 p.m.

Mrs. Shelton and another daughter, Sherill, 6, arrived at the home. One of the men took Mrs. Shelton to the store and ordered Shelton to empty the safe and cash registers, which he did.

The other man remained at the Shelton home with Sherill. Later he called a taxi, sent her back to the store and fled. The other man fled from the supermarket with the money.

Janice said the men did not harm or threaten her.

"They just told me to keep quiet," she said. "I was pretty nervous."

Racial Stand Wins Prize for Gazette

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A 92-year-old Arkansas editor whose newspaper suffered financial problems when he opposed school segregation has been named winner of the 11th annual John Peter Zenger award.

John Netherland Heiskell, editor of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock, will receive the award Jan. 9 during the annual convention of the Arizona Newspapers Association in Tucson.

The award is given by the University of Arizona in recognition of "distinguished service in freedom of the press and the people's right to know."

Zenger was a printer in colonial New York who was acquitted of sedition charges in a case which established the principle that the press is free to criticize government.

Heiskell opposed Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus in 1957 during the Central High School desegregation controversy.

In the period following the incident, the paper was boycotted and suffered a loss of approximately $2 million in circulation and advertising revenues over a four-year period.

In 1958, the Gazette won a Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service.

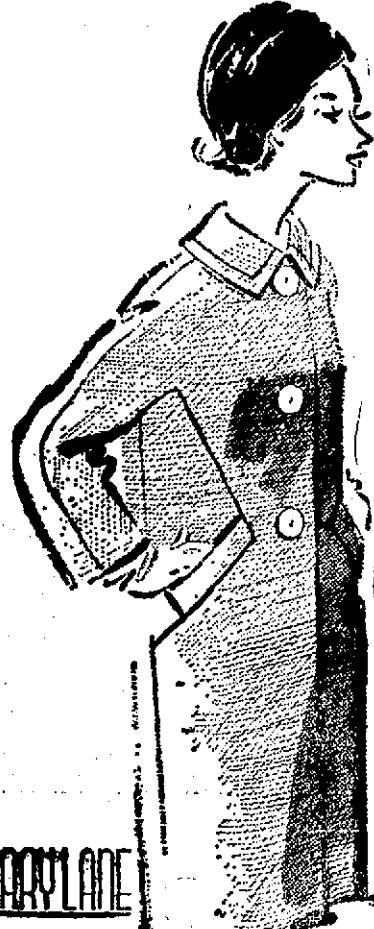

Heiskell and members of his family took over the Gazette in 1902. Previously, he had been a reporter for the Knoxville, Tenn., Tribune, city editor of the Knoxville Sentinel and a reporter and city editor for the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

He was with The Associated Press for three years in Chicago and Louisville.

Heiskell was a U.S. Senator briefly in 1913, serving by gubernatorial appointment.

Engagement Announced

Miss Gerry Jane Stone

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stone of Navasota, Texas, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gerry Jane, to Dr. Leslie Garry Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Adams of Marfa, Texas. Miss Stone is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Collier, Sr., of Hope.

Miss Stone is a graduate of Harding College in Searcy and is presently employed as a laboratory technician in Veterinary Microbiology at Texas A&M University. Having received his DVM from Texas A&M University, Mr. Adams is presently pursuing his PhD in Veterinary Pathology.

They plan to marry January 23 in Navasota, Texas.

"DEAR ABBY"

SEE ANOTHER ONE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: After 15 years of marriage, my husband and I separated because of his interest in another woman. We lived apart for two months and then he asked to come home again, so I let him. Although we are living together, he is not the same any more. We are married in name only and I think the only reason he came back was because it is cheaper than living separately. He comes and goes as he pleases and I'm alone most of the time anyway. I am depressed and upset all the time. Do I have to put up with this? Don't advise me to see a lawyer because my husband is one.

DEPRESSED

Dear Depressed: Just because a woman has a lawyer for a husband doesn't make her ineligible for legal redress. If you want to know what your legal rights are, ask a lawyer. But first, see a doctor. Going along with an "in-name-only" type marriage may be cheaper for the husband, but it's very expensive (emotionally) for the wife.

Dear Abby: I have a very dear friend who was widowed after wonderful man. He was loved 18 years of marriage to a truly and respected in the community. He provided well for his wife during his lifetime and left her with no money worries. She recently married again. She claims that her second husband is "her age," but he looks younger. She tells everyone she meets that her second husband is soooooo much better than her first, this is the first time she has ever really been "in love," she never dreamed such happiness could be hers, and on and on and on. It is so unbearably, Abby. How can I, her oldest and dearest friend, let her know how foolish she sounds?

NAUSEATED

Dear Nauseated: You probably can't. But if you are willing to test your friendship, go ahead and try.

Dear Abby: Why do people who are honest in every other respect think nothing of cheating the telephone company? I refer to those person-to-person calls to signal someone that you have arrived safely. I was recently visiting a friend when her son, who had driven himself bill — will be extended past its current expiration date.

Mills spoke to members of the Arkansas Agriculture Councils 25th annual meeting.

IT IS THAT TIME OF THE YEAR

Yes sir, it is that time of the year when EVERYTHING happens at once. You get out the Christmas card list and find that in spite of all good intentions to cut it down, maybe even do away with it entirely, you weaken. There are too many people you like too well and you just have to wish them all something special!

It is the time when you get out last year's decorations and find they (like last year's dresses) don't look as good as you thought.

It is the time when everyone you meet has a long list in which they are so interested they either ignore you completely or merely "grunt."

It is the time when extension cords and double sockets disappear and you can't find enough outlets to light up anything.

It is the time when you start out with noble intentions of buying for everyone else and see more things you simply cannot do without for yourself. . .

And this is when we want you to stop at Raley's Style Shoppe. As sure as the world you will want one of the new Briny Marlin double-knits. All new pastel shades one, two and three piece styles, to wear during the holidays and right on into Spring . . . $39.95 to $59.95. See them today!

For Mother, Grandmother, or that special Aunt, give her a beautiful imported Italian Knit sweater by Hedy — a warm "Seamprufe" robe, gloves, jewelry, or the hundred and one things we have for the gift-giving ever. . . you select, we will wrap. . . The place is Raley's Style Shoppe, 523 West 3rd.

Michigan Cage Team Tops in National Poll

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's powerful, veteran Wolverines, who have romped through three games without major difficulty, dominated The Associated Press' first regular season basketball poll today and confirmed their pre-season selection as the nation's best collegiate crew.

The Wolverines, who lost only one regular from the team that finished third in the nation last year, gained 32 of the 34 first-place votes cast and had a whopping 100-point margin over second-place Wichita.

Michigan, which already has survived two major tests, gained 337 points in the balloting on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. Wichita, winner of its only start this season, moved up from third in the pre-season poll to second with 236 points.

A flock of upsets and surprises in the first week prompted a major shuffling of the first weekly ratings from the pre-season poll with only top-ranked Michigan and 10th ranked St. John's of New York holding on to the same spots.

Three of the pre-season elite, fourth-ranked Davidson, No. 7 Syracuse and No. 8 Kansas State, split their two first-week starts and dropped from the top ten. UCLA, the defending national champion and No. 2 in the pre-season picks, also split, and plummeted to No. 7 after an opening loss to Illinois, 110-83.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

1. Michigan (32)	337
2. Wichita	236
3. Vanderbilt	189
4. St. Louis	170
5. San Francisco	140
6. Minnesota (1)	133
7. UCLA	86
8. Duke	83
9. Kentucky	62
10. St. John's, N.Y.	59

Gene Earl Jester led the losers with 27 points followed by John Allen Ross with 24.

Football Hall of Fame to Take in 10

NEW YORK (AP) —Football stars, coaches and fans and notables from business and government will be among the capacity crowd of 1,500 honoring former All-American Donald B. Lorie and 10 new members to the Football Foundation's Hall of Fame tonight.

Lorie, an All-American quarterback at Princeton in 1920 and now chairman of the board of Quaker Oats, will be presented with the Foundation's gold medal award at the organization's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria.

No. 1 Notre Dame, which lost its final game to Southern California after winning its first nine, will receive the MacArthur Bowl as the Foundation's outstanding college team of 1964.

The gold medal award is presented to "distinguished Americans who have by their interest, spirit and conduct rendered distinguished service to the game and spirit of American football."

The 10 Hall of Fame inductees include one coach—Col. Earl H. (Red) Blaik, famed for his teams at Dartmouth and Army. He now is an executive of Avco Corp.

The others are Robert J. Herwig, California center, 1935-37; Allison (Pooley) Hubert, Alabama fullback, 1922-25; Charles O. Carroll, University of Washington halfback, 1926-28; Ray R. Evans, Kansas fullback, 1941-42-44-47; W. Earl Sprackling, Brown quarterback, 1908-11; Kyle Rote, Southern Methodist back, 1948-50; and three deceased players, William N. Mallory, Yale fullback, 1921-23; Langdon Lea, Princeton tackle, 1892-94; and Charles R. Rinehart, Lafayette guard, 1894-97.

Baptists Rally to Beat Freshmen

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — Don Purdy pumped in 23 points and led in rebounds as Southern Baptist College overcame an early Arkansas freshman lead to win 71-67 in basketball here Monday night.

The Shoats led 39-33 at the half.

Richard Pyland added 18 for the winners, and Rusty McCarroll led the freshmen with 16 points, followed by Richard Baldwin with 15.

Ludick, 147, South Africa knocked out Oscar Miranda, 148½, Argentina, 2.

Arkansas State Loses Third Time

GREENVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Arkansas State College saw East Carolina pull away in the final minutes and the Indians dropped a 84-68 basketball game here Monday night.

East Carolina pulled away from a 60-60 tie with six minutes left and dealt Arkansas State its third loss in as many games this year.

Dave Markovich dumped 16 points for the Indians, with aid from John Dickson, 14; Jerry Rook, 13; and Mike Burke, 12.

Jerry Woodside scored 20 points for the winners.

Palmer Has Lost His Finish Kick

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

HONOLULU (AP)—Has Arnold Palmer lost his famed finishing kick? Is he catching up with the world's greatest money-winning golfer? Is he developing a Jack Nicklaus complex?

"Ridiculous," says Palmer himself to such suggestions raised after he blew the Canada Cup Individual Trophy last Sunday in one of the most unbelievable collapses in bigtime golf.

"I just had a miserable round—I played lousy. It's as simple as that. That's all there is to it."

Palmer, after firing successive rounds of 65-66-67-67 with the first of these in the preliminary pro-am, wilted to a 78 on the final day and allowed his teammate, Nicklaus, to walk away with his second successive individual crown.

The American team of Palmer and Nicklaus won easily, the fifth triumph in a row for the United States.

The individual duel between Palmer and Nicklaus, recognized as the world's two best pro golfers, overshadowed the one-sided team competition, although both Jack and Arnie resented the emphasis on the individual play.

Palmer led through the first two days. After 36 holes, he had an eight-stroke edge on his partner. After 54 holes, although Nicklaus fired a record-tying 65 in the third round, Arnie still led Jack by six shots.

Even with his record for fabulous comebacks, Nicklaus wasn't conceded a chance of making up six strokes on the red-hot Palmer.

But Sunday evening, there was Nicklaus the champion with a 72-hole score of 276. Palmer was second with 278. Jack had gained eight strokes in 18 holes.

Was he beginning to feel the weight of his 34 years? Nicklaus is 10 years younger.

"Not at all, I felt better for this tournament than I have in a long time," Palmer said.

"There can't be an excuse there."

Were the greens bumpy? "They were the same greens that I was one-putting the three days before," he said.

Is Nicklaus' success beginning to wear on his nerves and perhaps jar his confidence? "Jack is young and strong, a fine golfer," Arnold said. "He's going to win a lot of tournaments. I hope I win a lot more."

Arizona Pulls Surprise Over Texas Tech

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova's Wildcats are scratching their way up the college basketball ladder. Their Kentucky cousins may be up a tree.

Bill Melchionni's jump shot with 22 seconds to go in overtime lifted Villanova past Princeton's Ivy League champions 61-60 Monday night while North Carolina was caging the nationally ranked Kentucky "Cats" 82-67.

The developments at Philadelphia and Charlotte, N.C., came too late to affect the Associated Press weekly ratings, released today with Kentucky in the No. 9 spot and Villanova barely outside the top ten. A shuffle on the next go-round is likely, however, with Villanova assuming the role of top "Cat."

Top-ranked Michigan, meanwhile, cleared its bench early while brushing off Missouri 91-61 and Kansas State, knocked out of the top ten by Indiana last Saturday, rebounded against Southern Illinois 61-48.

Indiana whipped Oklahoma 87-79; Ohio State beat Houston 77-69; Bradley edged Murray State 76-74; Tennessee topped Georgia Tech 66-52; Utah State thumped Pacific 98-74 and Arizona surprised Texas Tech 83-73 in other games involving national powers.

Tonight's top games match third-ranked Vanderbilt against Western Kentucky; San Francisco, No. 5, vs. San Francisco State; Minnesota, No. 6, vs. Marquette, and St. John's, No. 10, vs. Holy Cross.

Melchionni outscored Bill Bradley, Princeton's All-American sharpshooter, 24-23 as Villanova ran its record to 3-0. The Wildcats' junior star fired the winning two-pointer after Bill Kingston's layup had put Princeton ahead with one-half minute left in the extra session.

The Tigers froze the ball for the last two minutes of regulation play but Bradley missed a jump shot with two seconds remaining and the teams went into overtime deadlocked at 54-54.

The tall Tar Heels poured in 20 points in the last 5½ minutes to pull away from Kentucky. Sophomore Bob Lewis led the

Cappelletti Sets a New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Gino Cappelletti, Boston's top pass catcher and field-goal kicker, has bettered his own American Football League scoring record with 155 points. He set the old mark of 147 in 1961.

The 30-year-old pride of the Patriots scored a touchdown on a pass from Babe Parilli, kicked a 12-yard field goal and added four conversions in Boston's 31-24 victory over Kansas City Sunday.

Cookie Gilchrist, Buffalo fullback, leads Matt Snell, the New York rookie, by 71 yards in their battle for the rushing lead. Each player has two games to go. Gilchrist has gained 862 yards in 193 attempts, Snell 791 in 178. Each has a 4.4 average.

Len Dawson of Kansas City still leads the passers.

N. Carolina Cage Coach Quits Job

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Everett Case, the Old Gray Fox who helped bring bigtime college basketball to the South, resigned Monday as North Carolina State's basketball coach because of extreme fatigue.

Case, who was to have retired next June 30 after 19 seasons with the Wolfpack and nine days after his 65th birthday, said the decision to quit had been "coming for some time."

Athletic Director Roy Clogston and the faculty athletic committee immediately approved the appointment of assistant Press Maravich, 45, as head coach and granted Case's additional request that he be allowed to serve as an advisory coach.

Case, whose State teams compiled a 378-133 record prior to this season, said he suffered headaches and extreme fatigue during pre-season practice.

Saturday night's game with Wake Forest at Winston-Salem made up his mind. "I had to get a chair and sit down," he said. "Then I thought I was never going to get home."

Case added, "I would have liked to have finished, but it was not the proper thing to do."

N.C. State lost to Wake Forest and beat Furman in its only games this season.

Maravich is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., was graduated from Davis and Elkins College and has a master's degree from West Virginia University.

Case, a bachelor, came to State in July 1946 after coaching several service teams to a combined 56-5 record during four years in the Navy.

Ex-Texas A&M Star Named as New Coach

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M remembered how Paul (Bear) Bryant rebuilt its football fortunes, so it got a man from Bryant's championship team to coach it back to greatness.

From Alabama, where he has been assistant head coach to Bryant, comes Texan Gene Stallings to take over the sagging fortunes of the Aggies.

Stallings was named head coach of A&M Monday while Henry (Hank) Foldberg, who has been athletic director and head coach for three years, becomes full-time athletic director.

Stallings was an end on the 1956 Texas A&M team which went undefeated and won the Southwest Conference championship under Bryant.

Bryant quit A&M in 1957, however, and went to Alabama, his alma mater, which was looking for somebody to drag it out of the doldrums. Bryant did that—he has had two national championships at Alabama.

Stallings was freshman coach in 1957 but went to Alabama with Bryant in 1958.

In 1956 A&M couldn't participate in a bowl game because the school was on probation for recruiting violations. But the next year it was off probation and Bryant's team which had an 8-2 record, played in the Gator Bowl.

Since then A&M hasn't had a winning team. This past season it won only one game, bringing the record of Foldberg in three years to 6-23-1.

Stallings and Foldberg both were given four-year contracts. Stallings, 29, is a native of Paris, Tex.

Bodcaw Will Entertain Okolona

Bodcaw basketball teams will entertain teams from Okolona on December 11. This includes two senior teams and a junior boys game the latter beginning at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday, Dec. 12, Bodcaw again hosts the Hope Junior and Senior Girls' teams and the B-Boys with the first game slated to start at 6:30.

During the past week Bodcaw Senior Girls won two games, defeating Guernsey by a 41 to 32 score with Peggy Butler scoring 24 points and Joyce Daniels 17.

The Bodcaw Senior Girls downed Chidester in two overtime periods by a 56 to 32 tally. In this contest, Peggy Butler scored an amazing 50 points and Joyce Daniels 6, according to Coach Wallace Cheatham.

Cepeda Should Be Good as Ever

NEW YORK (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, slugging first baseman of the San Francisco Giants, "should be as good as ever" following knee surgery, his physician said today.

Dr. Harrison McLaughlin, club doctor when the Giants were based in New York, headed a surgical team that removed torn cartilage from Cepeda's right knee Monday.

Narcotics Charge Is Dismissed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Judge W. D. McKay dismissed charges of possession of narcotics against Robert Ames of Camden Monday, after the prosecuting attorney's office had asked for the dismissal.

Laboratory analysis of 55,000 pills found in Ames' possession showed that they contained only caffeine, the substance in coffee, and no illegal drug, McKay said.

Ames said he had not tried to sell the pills. He said he got them in settlement of a debt, but had kept them stored.

Fact

The raccoon, an animal which has the curious habit of washing its food in water before eating it, is found over the whole of the United States to southern Canada and as far south as Mexico. It is about three feet long and has a ten inch tail. The raccoon hibernates during the winter and makes its home high up in the hollow of a large tree.

Republicans Still Divided and Confused

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans, repudiated in most of the past 32 years about as thoroughly as possible in American politics, are still confused and divided almost a month after one of their worst calamities. They need more than some kind of agreement among themselves to end their intraparty strife. They need a policy and an attitude giving voters far more confidence in them than has been demonstrated these past 32 years.

Only in this way can the two-party system work, with voters willing to entrust control and direction of the government to either party at fairly regular intervals.

Otherwise, Republicans are doomed to remain a minority party in danger of disintegrating altogether. The confusion and division were illustrated again this week when on the same day: 1. Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated for the presidency in November, stood firm against any other Republicans' attempt to throw out his hand-picked chairman of the party's national committee, 38-year old Dean defeated Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, said he thought Burch no longer could successfully lead the party and called for a change in Republican policy.

Burch, fervent believer in Goldwater's brand of Republicanism, is inescapably linked with more than just the senator's disastrous 15-million-vote defeat by President Johnson last month. The Republicans lost more than the presidency. In Congress, where they had been a minority party since 1954, they became even more of a minority by losing 38 seats in the House and probably two in the Senate.

If the Republican National Committee fails to give Burch a vote of confidence when it meets next month, this can be interpreted as a repudiation not only of Goldwater and his kind of conservatism but of those sharing his views. Goldwater said the anti-Burchers on the 132-member committee don't have enough votes to get rid of the young Tucson attorney whom he chose to head the committee after his own presidential nomination in July.

At that time the committee elected Burch to a four-year term at $30,000 a year, which would seem to give him good reason for thinking he had a right to want to make the committee stick to its contract.

Nevertheless, it would be embarrassing for him, the party, and any hope of party unity if a majority of the committee gave him a vote of no confidence and he still refused to step down.

Tech Schools Will Try for Federal Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Education Committee of the Legislative Council Monday made a move toward converting the state's four training schools into rehabilitational institutions so they can qualify for federal funds.

The committee instructed Don W. Russell, director of the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service, to draw up proposed legislation to effect the change. The committee and the boards of the schools will study the legislation before a final decision is made.

The state could greatly expand services of the schools without additional expenditure by making the schools rehabilitational institutions, Russell told the committee.

He said Arkansas now appropriates $604,000 a year for the schools, and said $365,000 of this could qualify for federal matching funds on a 30-70 basis. This would bring an added $370,000 annually.

Russell also proposed operating the state Commission on Alcoholism through the Rehabilitation Service. The commission's $5,055 appropriation would qualify for $130,000 in federal matching money, he said.

Hoyle Houser, director of the Commission on Alcoholism, gave his unqualified support to the proposal. So did Mrs. Marjorie Crabbaugh, chairman of the Girls Training School Board.

Officials of the Boys Training School, the Negro Boys Training School and the Negro Girls Training School gave qualified endorsements, but said they wanted to study the proposal further.

Russell said the operating boards of the institutions would have to be abolished and the schools placed under the state Board of Vocational Education, which administers the Rehabilitation Service. Membership of the Board of Vocational Education is the same as that of the state Board of Education.

Russell suggested that members of the school boards be appointed to an advisory board which would counsel with the Board of Vocational Education. Russell said the proposed change would allow the Rehabilitation Service to set up programs at the training schools which would prepare youth sent to them for return to their communities.

Wirges Case Transferred to Danville

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Circuit Judge Wiley Bean granted charges of venue Monday so former newspaper editor Gene Wirges can be tried outside Conway County on two indictments from the grand jury.

Wirges was indicted for slandering and for conspiring to have Sheriff Marlin Hawkins arrested on false charges.

Bean transferred the cases to Yell county, which is also under his jurisdiction. The cases apparently will come up in April. Bean said he would disqualify himself in the slander case, if he could find another judge to try the case.

Bean wrote in his order that the change of venue was granted because "the inhabitants of Conway County are so prejudiced against him (Wirges) that he cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial." Bean said the wording was his own, and not that of Thorp Thomas, Wirges' attorney who had asked orally for the change of venue.

Conway County Circuit Clerk Millard Richardson said that the orders do not transfer the cases of three other persons indicted with Wirges for conspiracy.

They are Chester Boyer of Blackwell and Justices of the Peace Leon Brents of Cleveland and Walter Savage of Plumerville, who issued warrants for Hawkins on affidavits signed by Boyer and another man alleging misconduct of the sheriff's office.

The indictment was revealed Nov. 24. On Oct. 23, Everett A. Ham Jr., a top aide to Winthrop Rockefeller, was indicted for perjury.

He had testified before the grand jury in an investigation of charges Wirges made at an Oct. 1 news conference about

However, he has indicated he would resign if the committee voted no confidence. And this is only part of the soul-searching going on within the Republican ranks.

For instance: Republican governors meet this Friday and Saturday in Denver to examine the party wreckage and try to think of some way to put it back on its feet. Republicans have had small success wooing the voters in the years since 1952 when Franklin D. Roosevelt won the presidency and Democrats got overwhelming control of Congress.

bers of the school boards he appointed to an advisory board which would counsel with the Board of Vocational Education.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said today that Arkansas' weather should be mild and dry through Wednesday, but there is a chance of rain Thursday in South Arkansas.

A high pressure center over the South has blocked the massive flow of moisture that led to last week's rains, the bureau said.

An anticipated increase in the flow from the Gulf of Mexico will bring increasing cloudiness in most sections of the state Wednesday, with the possibility of rain Thursday.

Sunshine and southerly winds will help raise temperatures to the 50s, with lows Tuesday night in the 20s and in the 30s, the bureau said.

MONEY 'ROUND THE WORLD

JAPAN

The world's fastest train—a 125 mph bullet-nosed beauty—is thrilling visitors to Japan. This new train links Tokyo with Osaka, 320 miles away. After skimming past the foot of Mt. Fuji, it rides its rails through a land rich in cherry blossoms, tea houses and Shinto shrines.

The basis of Japanese currency is the Yen. Currently, $1 = 360 Yen. There are coins for 1, 5, 10, 50 and 100 Yen, and paper money for 100, 500, 1,000, 5,000 and 10,000 Yen.

Payment in Japan must always be made in Japanese Yen. The best way of overcoming currency problems while traveling is by using travelers checks. First National City Bank Travelers Checks can be bought and cashed at any of the bank's six branches in Japan and almost everywhere else in the world.

Bank Merger Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board gave its approval Monday to the merger of Worthen Bank and Trust Co. and the Bank of Arkansas, both of Little Rock.

The two banks announced plans for the merger this fall and revealed personnel changes. Officials had said they expected approval of the merger this month.

Both banks would operate under the Worthen charter with the Bank of Arkansas customer facilities being retained.

accepted as valid. At any rate, all three seemed relieved to find that, in Nielsen's eyes, they were practically tied for audience favor.

Some new programs, however, received disappointing ratings in the report, among them NBC's "The Rogues" and "Man from U.N.C.L.E.," CBS' "Slattery's People," "The Reporter" and "The Entertainers," and ABC's "12 O'Clock High," "Bing Crosby Show" and "Valentine's Day."

Not one of them reached an 18 rating, the magic minimum figure to be considered on moderately safe ground for a renewal next season.

Burch to Take Case Before Committee

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Dean Burch, beset by critics within his party, plans to take his case to the GOP National Committee with a letter spelling out his views on leadership and party issues.

Burch said in an interview Monday night that he would draft a detailed summary of his own views and send it to the 132 National Committee members who meet in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23 to decide, among other things, whether to retain Burch, chosen last July for his post by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Earlier, Burch said both he and Goldwater could accept and endorse a policy statement issued Saturday at Denver by Republican governors calling for GOP "leadership which clearly represents a broad view of Republicanism." Some governors described the statement as a call for Burch's ouster.

Burch commented after he announced the resignation of John Grenier, his right-hand man since July, as executive director of the National Committee.

The national chairman's statement brought an immediate response from Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie, chairman of the GOP governors group, who denounced it as "a hollow and shallow promise" and "a desperate reaction to the very apparent fact that the Republican National Committee is swinging heavily against him and his leadership."

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon said he thought "it would be very difficult to carry on in a more inclusive manner... until some very specific acts have been made which would demonstrate more than just words—actions as well as words." He declined to specify what actions he meant.

But Colorado Gov. John A. Love, who expressed the hope last week that Burch would be replaced, said he was "more than pleased" with the national chairman's statement. "I hope this will lead the way toward a greater unification of the party than we presently have," he said.

Burch said he expects to send his letter to the members of the National Committee on Thursday.

"It will deal with my attitude toward this squabble that has broken out," he said. "I want to put this whole thing into perspective."

The 36-year-old party chairman said he will also take up questions that will face the National Committee at its Chicago meeting. "I want to outline what I think the real issues are," he said.

In their resolution the governors said:

"We strongly recommend to the National Committee that in determining its leadership at the forthcoming meeting in January it adopt leadership which clearly represents a broad view of Republicanism and practices a policy of inclusion rather than exclusion."

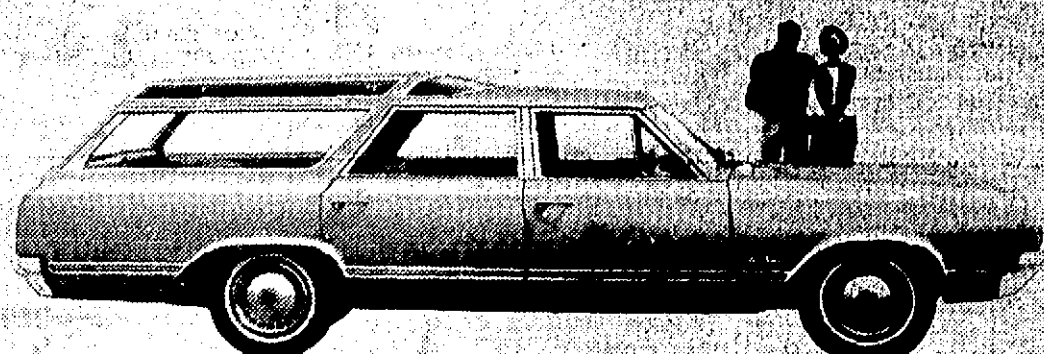

Burch said he emphatically disagrees "with any interpretation that I have observed a policy of exclusion" in serving as national chairman. "Nothing could be further from the truth as the cooperation with the National Committee compiled during the 1964 Campaign will show," he said.

Burch added: "Sen. Goldwater and I have discussed the statement in detail, and I can report that he concurs in the aims, goals and needs for a broadly based Republican party dedicated to winning elections and serving the American people."

"I pledge," he added, "that as long as I am privileged to serve as chairman of the Republican National Committee I will make every effort to assure the Republican party of the broadest possible base of support, participation and leadership by Republicans of every philosophy."

Burch added a call for party unity, saying all Republicans should seek strength that way, "not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and disunity."

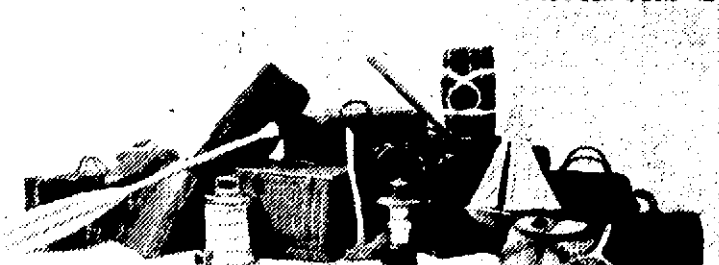

Grenier, a Birmingham lawyer, was Goldwater's Southern regional director during the battle for the nomination. He said he plans to resume his post as Alabama Republican chairman. Burch said he accepted Grenier's resignation with deep regret and added the Alabama Republican would be available to the party, "for consultation and special assignments as the need arises."

Fido Must Have Flannel Pajamas

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK
NEW YORK (AP) - Don't tell Fido, but to keep up with the real top dogs this Christmas, he must have flannel pajamas, heated sleeping pad and a self-service biscuit dispenser.

That's the word from those in the know on the pooch fashion front.

For the dog of real distinction, these other items are being shown in the doggy departments of stores:

A striped Arabian tent, complete with mattress, where the dog tired-of-it-all can rest in privacy, $14.95 up.

A nylon ski jacket and cap, for the outdoor dog who likes to hear the whistle of the wind in his ears, a nifty outfit, $7.98.

Ear muffs with attached tinkle-bell topped beret, for the indoor dog who still must go outdoors occasionally, $2.98.

For the lady dog who runs with the cafe society set, a velvet cocktail collar, in lavender and other shades, trimmed with roses and semi-precious stones, $2.98.

The pub-crawling gentleman dog hasn't been overlooked. He is offered a velvet collar, with white, formal, bow tie, $4.98.

Naturally the evening dogs want to bring out the true high-lights of their hair. Color shampoo is useful here at $2 a bottle.

For the dogs who have to play Santa Claus on Christmas Eve like their masters, a Santa Claus suit, with beard, very stylish, $4.98.

Some discriminating dogs may want something better than the clothes shown on the racks. A made-to-measure mink coat at $65 may satisfy their quality tastes.

Unity Road Rough for Republicans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) - Somebody mention unity?

There are about a dozen dictionary definitions of unity and this may explain the lack of it among Republicans who want their defeated party to unite.

Dean Burch says he wants unity almost over the weekend some Republican governors said they want him fired as chairman of the Republican National Committee, a job he got through Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The governors in Denver issued a statement calling for party unity and, among other things, suggesting the national committee take a good look at its leadership.

Some of them said this wasn't aimed at Burch; some said it definitely was. Particularly Govs. George Romney of Michigan, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said they want Burch out.

Burch, whether or not he was a good chairman, was a terrible prophet for on election night, Nov. 3, with the roof falling in on Goldwater, he cheerfully predicted: "This picture is going to brighten considerably as the sun moves toward the West."

The final news from the West was even worse. Goldwater lost every Western state except his own Arizona.

But Monday, in a statement which some interpreted as a move to soothe his critics and keep his job, Burch called for unity.

"It now remains for all of us, governors, senators, congressmen, state chairmen, national committee members and workers, to demonstrate that the Republican party seeks strength through unity - not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and dissunity."

At the same time his right-hand man - John Grenier, executive director of the national committee - quit with a statement which could hardly be considered a unifier or a pacifier.

Grenier, a fervent Goldwaterite, had been under criticism, too. His sudden departure, so soon after the governors' statement, could be considered an effort to cool off attacks on Burch and the committee.

But Grenier didn't seem obsessed by unity when he called in newsmen to announce he was leaving.

He said he will defend Burch and blamed a big part of Goldwater's defeat on "so-called Republicans." Romney, Rockefeller and Scranton. He said he was leaving to resume his law practice in Alabama.

The urge toward unity among Republicans is not new although it has taken strange turns. It began right after the election.

Richard M. Nixon, former vice president who campaigned for Goldwater, said the party needs unifiers, not dividers, and then attacked Rockefeller, who didn't campaign for Goldwater, as one of the principal dividers. He called Rockefeller a "Spoilsport" and Rockefeller called him "peevish."

About the same time former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was saying he thought Nixon would play a great role in unifying the party. But Robert E. Smylie, Republican governor of Idaho, was just then calling for Burch's ouster.

Goldwater after the election suggested it might be a good idea to realign the Democratic and Republican parties into "two new teams" under "liberal" and "conservative" banners.

But Henry Cabot Lodge, who had been a senator and ambassador to South Viet Nam, thought this was such a bad idea he called it "totally abhorrent to the American two-party system."

While Goldwater said he intends to retain the party leadership, he also said the real source of the leadership is in Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader, and Indiana's Charles A. Halleck, Republican House leader.

But Dirksen apparently doesn't want to get into any fights. He said: "I intend to stand still. I intend to do a lot of thinking and get a new perspective."

FAA Violation Brings Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Aviation Agency has asked the U.S. Attorney for Eastern Arkansas to file suit to collect a $1,000 penalty from Doswell Howard McDaniell of Jonesboro, Ark., on a charge of violating civil air regulations.

The FAA said McDaniell flew a plane from Jonesboro Municipal Airport June 5 while he lacked a currently effective pilot certificate. It added that he refused to settle the agency's claim for $500.

Farm Bureau Fears Loss of Votes

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The American Farm Bureau Federation is starting a grass roots drive designed to prevent farmers from losing voting strength in state legislatures.

Platform writers at the big farm organization's annual convention today called upon its members and leaders to campaign to get aside - through a constitutional amendment - a recent Supreme Court ruling which would reduce rural voting power in legislatures.

The ruling held that representation in state lawmaking bodies must be solely on the basis of population. In most states having bicameral legislatures, membership in one body has been based on other factors, mostly on areas, and the other on population.

The Farm Bureau leaders see in the court ruling a big shift of legislative seats away from rural areas to urban areas - a development which already has virtually destroyed the influence of farmers in Congress.

The farm population has been declining sharply in many states. Because of tax matters, rural zoning, highways, education and other state and local problems, Farm Bureau leaders consider it essential that farm strength be maintained in legislatures.

3 Americans Are Killed in Viet Nam

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - Viet Cong guerrillas overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam today, killing three American soldiers and nine South Vietnamese.

Ten Vietnamese soldiers were wounded in the surprise attack by about 50 Communists.

The casualties brought the total of Americans killed in action in South Viet Nam to 229 since December 1961.

Two of the Americans killed today were infantry officers and the third was an enlisted man. Their outpost, 125 miles from Saigon, apparently was being used as the command post in an operation. The Viet Cong force, small by usual standards, probably infiltrated the post before opening fire, a U.S. source said.

In the An Lao mountain valley, 30 miles northeast of Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas were making a determined attempt to overrun a district headquarters. The battle was still going on tonight, a U.S. spokesman said.

American helicopter pilots reported the Viet Cong moving openly across the valley.

"We have been shooting at them in the open and running across roads and at automatic weapons positions in the trees," said Maj. Clement A. Wyllie, of Chattanooga, Tenn., commander of an armed helicopter unit.

The Viet Cong blew up the only bridge leading to the tiny valley. Military sources reported three armored personnel carriers moving to the battle area were hit and were in flames.

Vehicles around the barbed wire fort at the district headquarters were burning, Wyllie reported. He said there were many dead and wounded Vietnamese inside the fort.

A relentless fire from Communist heavy weapons poured into the fort, and helicopters were being continually fired on.

One helicopter piloted by Capt. Peter R. Coggins of Manchester, N.H., made a hazardous flight into the fort to pick up nine wounded. It was hit by mortar fragments on the way out.

U.S., Russian Children Melt Cold War

By ROBERT HOLTON

MERRICK, N.Y. (AP) — Two Russian and three American youngsters clasped hands across the threshold of an American home the other day and the cold war, for the moment, melted.

The pair of Moscow teenagers and my three eldest children conducted in our home last Tuesday what probably was the first small-fry East-West summit conference in history.

The experiment was a smashing success.

Timothy Holton, 7, and Yuri Popov, 14, agreed to exchange backyard fort-building plans.

Peg Holton, 6, and Irena Tolstikova, 13, pledged to keep each other abreast of youthful fads in their respective countries.

And Jane Holton, 3, fell in love with Yuri.

"Mommy," she said after the 10-hour visit ended. "I love Yuri. He's so handsome and he's so kind."

Irena and Peg hit it off beautifully from the moment they met until they kissed goodbye.

"I have enjoyed myself in your home Peggy, only I wish I had enough time to teach you to say 'I like you very much' in Russian," Irena said. "We must see each other again. I promise I will never forget you and our visit here."

The two Russian youngsters spent the day in our suburban home during a two-week stay in the United States as guests of the American Broadcasting Co. during which they were filmed in a taped television program for showing next month.

The junior good-will delegates wore slacks and skirts, carried their credentials in their hearts and conducted discussions on the living-room floor or across a toy-littered playroom table.

"It has been a wonderful experience to come into your home and see how you live," Yuri said. "I enjoyed it very much. I particularly liked the pretzels and the strawberry shortcake. Those I never had before."

Irena, who spent a good portion of her time flitting about the house in quest of pigtailed pull, said she found our home "warm, pretty and full of lots of fun and laughing."

Yuri and Irena began their visit with a one-hour commuter train trip from their Manhattan hotel to the suburbs. The day's activities included a tour of a junior high school where they stood in line to have their trays filled in the cafeteria, a quick trip to a supermarket, a peek into a pet shop with carpeting on the floor and a visit to a large toy store.

In the midst of all the fun there were a few tense moments brought about by highly undiplomatic utterances of the Holton children.

"Is Mr. Khrushchev really still alive or did they kill him?" Timothy asked at the dinner table.

"He is living in a nice apartment in Moscow," Yuri replied without a hint of annoyance. "He was just too old and too sick to rule. So he resigned."

There was another awkward moment at the dinner table when the children began to recite a prayer. The two Russian children and their chaperone, Miss Zena Evgrosvi, just looked on.

This puzzled Timothy, so he asked, "Why don't you pray? Don't you think there's a God?"

His mother quickly turned the conversation to another subject. At the junior high school, Yuri seemed ill at ease with the children and gave the impression that he felt as though he were living in a fish bowl.

Once in our home, however, he became relaxed and laughed a lot and talked without prodding. Irena was outgoing from the start.

One of the articles in our early-American home that most attracted the two visitors was a large Boston rocker that tilted its occupant far back when it was rocked.

"We have these in the homes in the country but in the city where I live we never see them," Yuri said. "They are a lot of fun to rock in."

The electric refrigerator, automatic washer and drier and the home freezer appeared to hold little interest for Yuri and Irena.

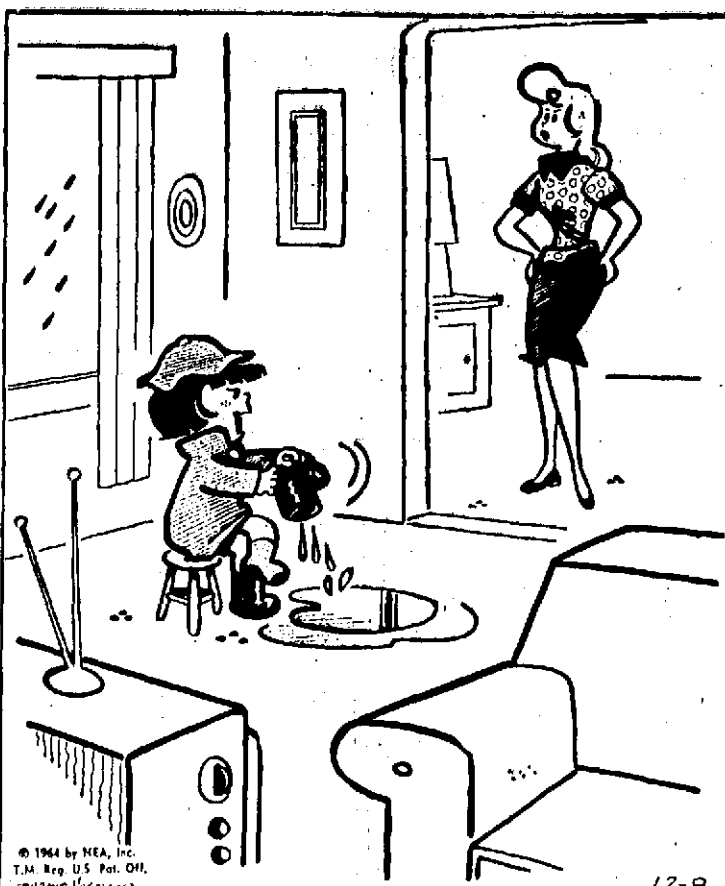

Yuri was the more inquisitive of the two, asking such questions as how much American journalists earn, why they don't live in a city apartment, how much a compact car cost and why American children don't go to school six days a week as they do in Russia.

It was on a walking tour of the village that Jane probably began to take a deep liking for Yuri. She had tripped and stubbed her toe and began to cry.

Yuri lifted her into his arms and in Russian whispered soft-

"All right. Tell me another one. Who's Blackie Ellis?"

There was a moment of silence. "You get around, don't you?" he said finally. "Blackie's quite a character. He was one of our hottest boys for 15 years. Did two stretches. Name anything that went on in the Bay Area and he was in on it. Then suddenly, after his last stretch, he reformed. He opened that place called The Charcoal House and kept clean. He's made the place pay off. We're pretty certain that he's kept out of everything since then. But you can be sure that he knows everything that goes on. Nobody even picks a pocket without Blackie knowing about it."

"A stoolie?"

"Not on your life. He's given us some information a couple of times, but you would bet he had his own reasons each time. And don't let the beard fool you. He's words of comfort. Soon she stopped crying.

"Just like my little sister," Yuri explained. "You know children are children, no matter where they live."

After dinner, Irena insisted on helping to clear the table while Yuri joined the menfolk watching the day's news on television.

When a picture of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk came onto the screen, Yuri's eyes lighted up.

"Look how friendly they are," he said. "It was your dead President Kennedy who brought that friendliness. He is the most liked American among Russian children."

To close out the day, the two visitors were taken to a toy store to select a gift to take back with them. Yuri chose an Indian bow and arrow set. Irena selected a painting set.

"I like cowboy and Indian movies," Yuri said. "So I will take this back with me."

In return, each of the children was given a small medal commemorating a Soviet space venture.

As their two guests drove away in a car toward their Manhattan hotel Jane turned to her mother and said with tears in her eyes:

"Pray that they come back again Mommy. I love Yuri."

Irena, who spent a good portion of her time flitting about the house in quest of pigtailed pull, said she found our home "warm, pretty and full of lots of fun and laughing."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors are the most self-confident branch of their party at the moment, as they showed in a statement issued after their weekend meeting in Denver.

They got some reason for their confidence from the 1964 elections which were a disaster for the rest of the party.

While Republicans lost out on the presidency in the elections and in Congress dropped 38 House seats and two in the Senate, the party registered a net gain of one in governorships.

But in the very statement which they intended as a chart for the Republicans' future, the governors revealed the party's dilemma in national politics. They wound up sounding like a lot of Democrats.

Although they didn't say so there was another good reason for their willingness to tell the party what it ought to do.

In the 1968 presidential race the Republican candidate will probably come from the ranks of the governors. No Republican in Congress at this time looks like a presidential prospect.

The statement left little doubt that it was critical of Dean Burch, handpicked by Sen. Barry Goldwater to be chairman of the Republican National Committee.

But it named no names. Therefore, it was so ambiguous that some of the governors, who supported Goldwater, could say it wasn't aimed at Burch while others could say it was.

The governors covered a lot of ground in the statement:

1. They sketched an outline of principles they think the party should follow after the 1964 disasters.

2. They suggested the National Committee take steps to include from now on Republican governors and members of Congress — who they said should be included in a GOP leadership conference next year.

3. They didn't mention Goldwater but so worded what they said that he'd have to be obtuse not to take it as a rebuke.

4. They suggested the National Committee "adopt leadership" that represents a "broad view of Republicanism" and practices a policy of inclusion rather than exclusion.

Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said No. 4 was a clear call for throwing Burch out of the committee chairmanship.

The thrust at Goldwater was contained in this paragraph calling for Republican party support of civil rights:

"We feel it pertinent to remind our fellow citizens that most Republicans in Congress this year supported the federal Civil Rights Act." Goldwater voted against it.

The principles, which the governors unanimously said the party should follow, turned out to be very moderate, indeed, and are hardly distinguishable ed around, spotted the empty cab and headed for it.

"That's the one," I told my driver. "Follow that cab as soon as it pulls out."

"Okay," he said.

I was so intent on watching Jackie get into the cab ahead, that I didn't notice the four men were drifting down the street.

The first awareness I had was when one of them suddenly yanked open the cab door.

"This is the guy," one of them said. He reached in to grab my coat and pull. Off balance, I came tumbling out of the cab. When I straightened up, the four of them were around me.

"What's this?" I said. "You're interfering with—"

"I know what we're interfering with," the first man interrupted roughly. "You've been coming down here to meet my wife almost every night. I'm going to put a stop to it. Right, fellows?"

"Yeah," one of them said.

I was aware that the cab containing Jackie Harris was pulling away from the curb. And suddenly I knew that this was not a case of mistaken identity. I cursed under my breath. At the same time, I reached for my gun.

They were ready for that. One of them hit me high on the cheek. It was hard enough to stagger me. Another one hit me and I went down. One of them kicked me in the side and it felt as if he'd put a knife in me. I rolled away from the next kick and managed to get to my feet. I didn't have time to reach for my gun. All four of them were rushing me. I kicked the first between the legs and jabbed my fingers into the neck of the next one. But I knew I was finished at that point.

A shot rang out. It came from nearby, with a sharp, spiteful sound.

from those Republicans and Democrats had followed in the past.

Example: Support for old-age security, hospital and medical care, decent living standards, public education, mental health, and the needs of youth.

It's just because the Democrats talk the same way that the two parties for years have looked like twins, and sounded like them.

Construction Business Is Confident

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter's first onslaughts may be putting a crimp on construction here and there but not in the industry's confidence that still another good year lies ahead.

Construction poured about $62 billion into the economy in 1963, were less enthusiastic about welfare programs. For this reason, among others, his candidacy symbolized a break with pre-1964 Republicanism.

The governors' statement, therefore, can be interpreted as an attempt to get away from Goldwater's views and resume the party's previous positions. The governors rule! out "radicalism" of left or right.

But for the greater part of the past 32 years those previous Republican positions had failed to win the presidency or control of Congress. But these are the positions the governors say are necessary.

So the party's dilemma is how to win with them in the future if it fared so poorly in the past. And Goldwater's views can hardly be considered the answer, after what happened to him.

and in the first 11 months of this year was running 6 per cent ahead of that.

Once feared as a possible drag on 1965's economic growth because of a slowdown in home building, construction in general now is billed to add at least a moderate lift next year.

Housing accounts for about one-third of the total and may be less than spectacular. Many elements in the other two-thirds continue to boom.

Census Bureau figures for November show actual construction, figured at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, running at $65.6 billion, ahead of both October 1964 and November 1963.

This helps offset the pessimism generated by the October reports of another statistic, contract awards. These had dropped 7 per cent from a year ago, largely because of the sharpest decline of this year in the residential field.

Contract awards point ahead and any drop if prolonged is disturbing. But economists point out that other forward-looking signs are good. Spending for several other forms of construction seem sure to rise.

These include new highways, school building, manufacturing plants. Plans have been announced for expansion in all three fields.

Office building has topped out in some regions, continues at a fast pace in others. For the nation as a whole, office building may stay around this year's rate — far from a drag on the economy, but still no boost.

And the utilities should spend more for expansion because Americans go right on talking more on the phone and using more electricity and gas.

Much of the slowdown has been charged to overbuilding in some communities, and largely in apartment houses where vacancy rates have been rising.

All of this is expected to change in the next few years as the many who were born in the middle and late '40s become young adults and move, first into apartments, and then into homes of their own.

But next year, if construction is to help the economy grow, the account will be more on spending by federal, state and local governments, and expansion by industries. The climb from the $55 billion of 1961 to the current annual rate of $65 billion is expected to continue.
